Gentlemen:

We reply to your request for clarifications on the news article entitled "Govt, contractor set to ink deal for PNR Clark Phase 1" posted in BusinessMirror (Online Edition) on May 20, 2019. The article reported in part that:

"The Department of Transportation (DOTr) is set to sign the civil-works contract with a Filipino-Japanese contractor for the partial construction of the Philippine National Railways (PNR) Clark Phase 1 on Monday.

The DOTr said in a media advisory that the package involves the construction of the Solis, Caloocan, Valenzuela, Meycauayan, Marilao and Bocaue stations of the 37.6-kilometer railway that will run from Tutuban, Manila, to Malolos, Bulacan.

A joint venture between Taisei Corp. of Japan and Filipino construction company DMCI Holdings Inc. won the contract for this project. . . .

The whole project costs P149 billion and will be funded through an official development assistance package from the Japan International Cooperation Agency.

This is to confirm that the joint venture of Taisei Corporation and D.M. Consunji, Inc. (DMCI) has been awarded the North South Commuter Railway (NSCR) Project (Malolos – Tutuban) Package CP01 (Tutuban to Bocaue) by the Department of Transportation (DOTr).

The NSCR project involves the construction of approximately 22 km of elevated viaduct structures, six stations and a depot, which will be located in Valenzuela. Once completed, the NSCR project CP01 will shorten travel time between Malolos and Tutuban to just 35 minutes, which is designed at a maximum speed of 120 kilometers per hour.

Thank you.
